

Directions (1-5) : Study the following information carefully and answer the questions given below :

P, Q, R, S, T, V and W are seven students of a college. Each of them has a favourite subject from Physics, Chemistry, English, Biology, History, Geography and Philosophy, not necessarily in the same order. Each of them also has a favourite sport Football, Cricket, Hockey, Volleyball, Badminton, Table Tennis and Basketball, not necessarily in the same order.

R likes Philosophy and his favourite sport is Hockey. The one who likes Football likes English. T's favourite sport is not Badminton or Table Tennis. V does not like either History or Biology. The one whose favourite sport is Basketball does not like Physics. W likes Chemistry and his favourite sport is Volleyball. S likes Geography. Q's favourite sport is Badminton. V does not like English and his favourite sport is not Basketball. P's favourite sport is Cricket. The one whose favourite sport is Badminton does not like Biology.

1. Which subject does P like ?

- (1) History
- (2) Biology
- (3) Chemistry
- (4) Data inadequate
- (5) None of these

2. Who likes History ?

- (1) P
- (2) R
- (3) Q
- (4) V
- (5) Data inadequate

3. What is Q's favourite sport ?

- (1) Cricket
- (2) Table Tennis
- (3) Football

- (5) None of these

4. Whose favourite sport is Basketball ?

- (1) S
- (2) W
- (3) Q
- (4) Data inadequate
- (5) None of these

5. Which subject does T like ?

- (1) Biology
- (2) Physics
- (3) Chemistry
- (4) Data inadequate
- (5) None of these

Directions (6-9) : In the following questions, the symbols #, %, @, $ and © are used with the following meanings illustrated.

'P#Q' means 'P is not smaller than Q'.

'P%Q' means 'P is not greater than Q'.

'P@Q' means 'P is neither smaller than nor equal to Q'.

'P$Q' means 'P is neither greater than nor equal to Q'.

'P©Q' means 'P is neither smaller than nor greater than Q'.

In each of the following questions assuming the given statements to be true, find out which of the two conclusions I and II given below them is/are definitely true.

Give answer

- (1) if only conclusion I is true.
- (2) if only conclusion II is true.
- (3) if either conclusion I or II is true.
- (4) if neither conclusion I nor II is true.
- (5) if both conclusions I and II are true.

6. Statements :

R%N, N#F, F@B

Conclusions :
I. F©R, II. B$N

7. Statements :

H©W, W%R, R@F

Conclusions :
I. R©H, II. R@H

8. Statements :

M$T, T@K, K©D

Conclusions :
I. D$T, II. K$M

9. Statements :

H@W, W$M, M#K

Conclusions :
I. K$W, II. H@M

Directions (10-13) : Each of the questions below consists of a question and two statements numbered I and II are given below it. You have to decide whether the data provided in the statements are sufficient to answer the question. Read both the statements and Give answer

1. if the data in statement I alone is sufficient to answer the question, while the data in statement II alone is not sufficient to answer the question.

2. if the data in statement II alone is sufficient to answer the question, while the data in statement I alone is not sufficient to answer the question.

3. if the data either in statement I alone or in statement II alone are sufficient to answer the question.

4. if the data in both the statements I and II are not sufficient to answer the question.

5. if the data in both the statements I and II together are necessary to answer the question.

10. How is A related to B ?

Statements :

I. A is the sister-in-law of C, who is the daughter-in-law of B, who is the wife of D.

II. B is the mother of A's son's only uncle's son.

11. Amongst A, B, C, D, E and F, each are having a different height. Who is the shortest ?

Statements

I. C is shorter than only B.

II. A is taller than only D and F.

12. Point X is in which direction with respect to Y ?

Statements :

- I. Point Z is at equal distance from both point X and point Y.
 II. Walking 5 km to the East of point X and taking two consecutive right turns after walking 5 km before each turn leads to point Y.

13. How is 'must' written in a code language ?

TEST - II : ENGLISH LANGUAGE

Directions (41-50): Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it. Certain words have been printed in bold to help you locate them while answering some of the questions.

"We have always known that heedless self-interest was bad morals. We now know that it is bad economics," said American President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1937 in the midst of the Great Depression. And the world has learnt that enlightened self-interest is good economics all over again after the Great Recession of 2009. Americans are entering a period of social change as they are recalibrating their sense of what it means to be a citizen, not just through voting or volunteering but also through commerce. There is a new dimension to civic duty that is growing among Americans - the idea that they can serve not only by spending time in communities and classrooms but by spending more responsibility. In short, Americans are beginning to put their money where their ideals are.

In a recent poll most said they had consciously supported local or small neighbourhood businesses and 40 per cent said that they had purchased a product because they liked the social or political values of the company that produced it. People were alarmed about 'blood diamonds' mined in war zones and used to finance conflict in Africa. They were also willing to pay $2000 more for a car that gets 35 miles per gallon than for one that gives less, though the former is more expensive but environment friendly. Of course consumers have done their own doing-well by doing-good calculation - a more expensive car that gives better mileage will save them money in the long run and makes them feel good about protecting the environment. Moreover since 1995, the number of Socially Responsible Investment (SRI) mutual funds, which generally avoid buying shares of companies that profit from tobacco, oil or child labour has grown from 55 to 260. SRI funds now manage approximately 11 percent of all the money invested in the US financial markets - an estimated $ 2.7 trillion. This is evidence of a changing mindset in a nation whose most iconic economist Milton Friedman wrote in 1970 that a corporation's only moral responsibility was to increase shareholder profits.

At first the corporate stance was defensive companies were punished by consumers for unethical behaviour such as discriminatory labour practices. The nexus of activist groups, consumers and government regulation could not merely tarnish a company but put it out of business. But corporate America quickly discerned that social responsibility attracts investment capital as well as customer loyalty, creating a virtuous circle. Some companies quickly embraced the new ethos that consumers boycotted products they considered unethical and others purchase products in part because their manufacturers were responsible. With global warming on the minds of many consumers lots of companies are racing to 'outgreen' each other. The most progressive companies are talking about a triple bottom line-profit, planet and people-that focuses on how to run a business while trying to improve environmental and worker conditions.

This is a time when the only thing that has sunk lower than the American public's opinion of Congress is its opinion of business. One burning question is how many of these Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) initiatives are just shrewd marketing to give companies a halo effect? After all only 8 per cent of the large American corporations go through the trouble of verifying their CSR reports, which many consumers don't bother to read. And while social responsibility is one way for companies to get back their reputations, Consumers too need to make ethical choices.

41. Which of the following represent/s the change/s that has/have occurred in the American outlook ?
- (A) The perception that the government needs to invest resources in business rather than in education.
- (B) Loss of faith in American corporations as they do not disburse their profits equitably among shareholders.
- (C) Americans have cut down on their expenditure drastically to invest only in socially responsible mutual funds.

43. To what does the author attribute the consumers' willingness to purchase environment friendly vehicles ?
- (1) Auto companies sell these types of vehicles at lower rates in order to boost sales in times of recession.
- (2) The realisation that consumers' greed caused the economic recession of 2009.

- (3) To show their support for small entrepreneurs who are the manufacturers of such vehicles.
- (4) They have to comply with government guidelines regarding reduction of carbon emissions.
- (5) None of these
44. Which of the following is the central idea of the passage ?
- (1) It is beneficial to invest in American companies as they are socially responsible and profitable.
- (2) Large corporations should be penalised by the American government for their greed.
- (3) Ethical consumerism is profitable for organisations as well as society as a whole.
- (4) Companies should be required by law to account for their impact on the environment in their balance-sheet.
- (5) Developing countries should learn how to combat child labour from America.
45. Which of the following best describes the widespread view among Americans about big corporations ?
- (1) They have been lax in fulfilling their moral responsibility of increasing profits and benefitting shareholders.
- (2) They are being too severely penalised by activities and the government for their role in the economic crisis.
- (3) Their innovations have brought commercial success and benefited America tremendously.
- (4) They need to be held accountable for their ruthless business practices.
- (5) Their balance-sheets are often fraudulent and deceive shareholders.

46. What is the author trying to convey through the phrase 'companies are racing to outgreen each other' ?
- (1) The competition among companies to boost their bottom line is very stiff.
- (2) The conflict facing businesses of whether to benefit their shareholders or the environment.
- (3) Corporations are verifying with each other to solicit investment.
- (4) Companies are trying to find the necessary funds to finance their environment friendly initiatives.
- (5) None of these
