Regulations Effective from July 2011

UNIVERSITY OF MADRAS

JOINT DEGREE - DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY (Ph.D)

(Regulations effective from July 2011)

1. PREAMBLE

The Joint Degree (also called Joint Doctorate /Co-tutelle Doctorate) of Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) is awarded to a candidate who, as per these regulations, has submitted a thesis on the basis of original and independent research conducted jointly in two universities in any particular discipline or involving more than one discipline (inter-disciplinary) that makes a contribution to the advancement of knowledge, which is approved by Board of examiners as required. This joint Ph.D. program is applicable only for the Departments of University of Madras.

1.1 The Joint Doctoral degree is made possible on the basis of a contract of cooperation between the doctoral researcher, the researcher's supervisors (one at each university) and the respective universities

1.2 The aim of the Joint Ph D program apart from recognizing the involvement of multiple supervisors and universities within India and abroad, is to permit the research candidate to have a broader even international experience that is both intellectually and culturally stimulating.

1.3 The Joint Doctoral Agreement is to be established in the case of every JOINT Ph D Candidate whether University of Madras is the Parent Institution or the Host University. The following general principles apply to the JOINT DOCTORAL PROGRAMME and are to be set out in the Agreement.

(i) The Joint doctoral Agreement must be drawn up between two participating universities. One to termed the PARENT university and the other to be termed the HOST university who have already signed an agreement of cooperation / MOU which signals the ongoing and sustainable relationship between the universities. NB: Should the MOU be in its final stage and not valid for the duration of the Joint doctoral programme then immediate steps must be taken to renew the accord for a further specified period (a copy of the letter requesting mutually agreed renewal /or expressing the intention to renew the accord must be obtained through the International Relations office or competent authority of the parent and host universities.

(ii) The Joint doctoral agreement must be drawn up in respect of each individual researcher (as conditions must be flexible to accommodate individual needs and variations in research) detailing particular arrangements pertaining to each candidature.

(iii) Normally the agreement takes effect from the beginning of the candidature. However when the appropriateness of a Joint program emerges some time into a particular candidature then a backdated agreement may be permitted in special circumstances with the permission of the Vice Chancellor.

(iv) The Joint doctoral agreement must list the two or more supervisors who are to undertake the Joint supervision [a minimum of ONE in the parent institution and ONE in the host institution]

(v) The candidature is divided between the two institutions/ countries with alternate stays in each institution and spends at least 1/3 of the official period of research in the host institution [i.e: one out of a total of three years as per UNOM rules]. The duration may be continuous or in varying periods that will be jointly agreed to by the supervisors. A certificate of attestation must be issued by the Supervisor of the Host institution when the stipulated period has been completed.

(vi) The candidates are required to fill in Separate Application and Registration forms specifically issued for Joint Ph D in the Prospectus to both the institution at the time of admission. In the case of foreign/Indian candidates for whom the University of Madras is the host institution the application forms may be scanned and sent by email. Apart from the cost of the Prospectus foreign/Indian candidates for whom the University of Madras is the host institution has to pay the Eligibility and Tuition fees as set out in the Joint pH D Agreement. All payments must be affected during the first visit of the candidate to UNOM by Demand drafts addressed to "The Registrar, University of Madras-JOINT PH D"

(vii) The Joint Ph D agreement must set out the arrangement with regard to fees where at least 1/3 of the fees [as per the host institution's rates] are paid to the host institution as a lump sum during the first sojourn of the candidate. This automatically implies that the candidate is exempted 1/3 of the fees at the parent institution. Proof of payment of fees has to be submitted by the candidate to both the institutions prior to completion of the programme.

(viii) After submission of the Registration and Application forms for the Joint Ph D, the copy of the Joint Ph D Agreement, and the documents set out in the check list appended the office of the UNOM will ensure that if the candidate fulfils the eligibility and other criteria as set out then the Provisional Registration and admission is granted within SIX WEEKS and the required communication dispatched to the candidate and the supervisors concerned.

(ix) The Joint Ph D agreement must set out the ownership of the copyright and in the thesis, patents if any that are the outcome of the thesis and other intellectual property rights.

(x) A copy of the abstract / synopsis of the thesis is to be submitted in English /Tamil to both the Universities if UNOM is the host institution. General doctoral rules of UNOM will be applied if it is the parent institution.

(xi) One examination procedure is to be followed and the details set out in the Joint Ph D Agreement with both universities agreeing to respect the outcome. One degree certificate will be awarded as set out in the details below.

(xii) Costs associated with travel for the viva voce examination, certification on awards, postal costs must be negotiated on a case by case basis and noted in the Joint Ph D agreement.
