Candidates who have appeared in the final examination of their qualifying degree in 2012 will also be considered for admissions for the above courses. By qualifying in C-CAT 2012, these candidates can apply for provisional admission subject to the condition that: (a) all parts of their qualifying degree examination shall be completed by the date of joining the course, and (b) proof of having passed the qualifying degree with at least the required minimum marks shall be submitted at C-DAC by 30 September 2012.

Important Note: Candidates are required to ensure that they meet the eligibility criteria of the courses for which they are giving preferences during the course-centre selection. In case a candidate is found to be non-eligible during any stage of the admission process or course delivery, his/her admission will be cancelled with immediate effect and he/she will not be able to attend any further classes.

2. C-CAT Ranking

Candidates will be provided ranks based on their performance in Section A, Sections A+B and Sections A+B+C. If a candidate appears for multiple sections, he/she will be provided multiple ranks accordingly. For example, if a candidate appears in Section A and Section B, he/she will be provided two ranks: (i) based on the performance in Section A, and (ii) based on the performance in Sections A+B.

Along with the ranking, information on how many candidates are there above him/her in the courses applied will also be indicated.

Candidates with the lowest 10% performance will not be considered for ranking in Section A, Sections A+B and Sections A+B+C. If there exist candidates with zero or less than zero marks even after the removal of the lowest 10% performers, then these candidates are also omitted from the rank-list. Accordingly the qualifying marks will be as per the following rule: Max (marks obtained by the bottom 10% performers, 0).

If two or more candidates have acquired the same marks in Section A or Sections A+B or Sections A+B+C, then the candidate having more marks in Section A will be given the higher rank. If these candidates have the same marks in Section A also, then the candidate having higher value in the ratio of 'number of correct answers / number of attempted questions' in the specific section required only for that category of courses will be given the higher rank. Candidates who have the same value of the ratio and having the same total marks as well as marks in section A will be given the same rank.

Admissions to C-DAC's PG Diploma courses at the various training centres will be offered in the order of ranks obtained in C-CAT and based on the preferences of courses and centres given by the candidates. Only those candidates who are in the C-CAT rank-list will be considered for admissions to C-DAC's PG Diploma courses.

C-CAT 2012 rank-lists are only applicable for admission to the August 2012 intake of C-DAC's PG Diploma courses. Candidates should note that mere appearance in C-CAT 2012 or being in any of the rank-lists neither guarantees nor provides any automatic entitlement to admission. Qualified candidates will have to apply for admission as per the prescribed procedure.

(a)	Announcement of C-CAT results on C-DAC website	13 July 2012

Ranking will be announced on the C-DAC website on this date. When a candidate checks through his/her login, along with the rank, information on how many candidates are there above him/her in the courses applied will also be indicated.

Candidates will be provided ranks based on their performance in Section A, Sections A+B and Sections A+B+C. If a candidate appears for multiple sections, he/she will be provided multiple ranks accordingly.

In order to be considered for admission to a desired course, a candidate's name must appear in the rank-list of the sections corresponding to that particular course and also satisfy its minimum eligibility criteria.

(b)	Online selection of course and centre	13-18 July 2012

During these dates, candidates are required to give preferences online of their preferred courses and training centres. Depending on their ranks, candidates are allocated seats based on their choice of courses and centres. Instructions on how to use the Choice Filling software are provided in the Counseling Brochure.

Important Note: Candidates will be permitted to give preferences for only those courses which they had opted at the time of applying for C-CAT. They cannot opt for any additional course(s) other than what they had applied for.

The list of courses offered and the maximum number of seats available at all training centres of C-DAC are given in Tables 3(a) and 3(b) of this booklet. A candidate may give as many Course-Training Centre preferences as required, and the rank-wise seat allocation will be done based on these preferences and the availability of seats. Under any circumstance, a candidate will not be allocated another course/centre, which was not given as a preference during this period.

While choosing the courses and centres in the Choice Filling software, candidates have the option to save and lock their preferences. Candidates after choosing their preferred courses and centres, should save their preferences. The unsaved preference list will be shown in red colour. The saved preference list will be shown in green color and can be modified (if required) by the candidate until 18 July 2012. Once the candidate is sure about the preferences, he/she should lock them so that the choices will not be modified by mistake. The saved preferences will be locked automatically after 18 July 2012 if the candidate has not locked them before. The locked preferences are non-editable and are shown with a white background. These preferences will be considered in the seat allocation process in their order of preference. Candidates will have the option to print the list of course-centre preferences given by them.

Candidates can add or delete preferences and also change their order before locking them. Once locked, the preferences cannot be edited later. Preferences once given by the candidate will be considered as final and he/she cannot opt for a lower preferred choice if he/she is allocated a better preference in any round of seat allocation.

Important Note: If a candidate has not given preference for a particular course or a centre during this stage, he/she will not be considered for this particular course/centre in any further admission process.

(c)	Declaration of first round of seat allocation	20 July 2012

The course and centre allocated to the candidates are declared on the C-DAC website on this date. Admissions to various courses at different training centres are offered in the order of rank based on the preferences of courses and training centres given by the candidate and the number of seats available for the course at the admitting centre. If some candidates' ranks are not good enough to get them their top preferences, they may be offered their lower preferred courses/centres depending on their ranks.

All the candidates who have got their seats allocated will receive an e-mail notification on the course and centre allocated to them. Once a candidate is allocated a centre, no manual request for transfer to another centre will be permitted at any stage. Seat allocation will happen only as per the order of preference already given by the candidates.

(d)	Last date of payment of Rs 10,000/- for candidates allocated seats through the first round	30 July 2012

It will be taken as these candidates do not want to take any admission and their names will be removed from the further processing. Therefore, in order to be considered for further seat allocation, candidates are advised to pay the token amount and confirm their admission, even if the course/centre allocated in the current round of allocation is not their top preference. It may happen that the candidate may be allocated a higher preferred course/centre in a later round of seat allocation.

Important Note: The token amount of Rs 10,000/- once paid will not be refunded in case the candidate is found to be non-eligible for the course during verification of certificates at the time of registration.

(e)	Declaration of second round of seat allocation	3 August 2012

Candidates who are in the rank-list but were not offered seats in the first round of seat allocation will be considered in the second round of seat allocation. (ii) The second (final) installment is to be paid before 21st August 2012. It should be paid at the respective C-DAC training centre (listed in Table 3a) where the course will be pursued by the candidate, using a crossed DD drawn in favour of "CDAC" payable at the particular city of the C-DAC centre. (For e.g., if a candidate is taking admission at C-DAC Mumbai, the DD should be drawn in favour of "CDAC" payable at Mumbai.) Candidates may take note that the second installment can be paid only through DD.

If a candidate is taking admission at any of the C-DAC's Affiliated Training Centres (ATC, except NIELIT Aurangabad), he/she should pay the second (final) installment at the ATC where he/she is taking admission, using a crossed DD drawn in favour of "CDAC" payable at Pune.
