APPLICABILITY OF REGULATIONS FOR THE TIME BEING IN FORCE

Notwithstanding the integrated nature of a course spread over more than one academic year, the regulations in force at the time a student joins a course shall hold good only for the examinations held during or at the end of the academic year. Nothing in these regulations shall be deemed to debar the University from amending the regulations subsequently and the amended regulations, if any, shall apply to all students whether old or new.

GUIDELINES FOR CONTINUOUS INTERNAL ASSESSMENT (20%) FOR REGULAR STUDENTS OF POST-GRADUATE COURSES of M.A. Political Science (Semester System)
(Effective from the First Year Admissions for the Academic Session 2005-2006)

1. The Syndicate has approved the following guidelines, mode of testing and evaluation including Continuous Internal Assessment of students :

- (i) Terminal Evaluation : 80 %
 - (ii) Continuous Assessment : 20 %
 - (iii) Continuous Assessment may include written assignment, snap tests, participation in discussions in the class, term papers, attendance etc.
 - (iv) In order to incorporate an element of Continuous Internal Assessment of students, the Colleges/Departments will conduct one written test as quantified below :
- | | | | |
|-----|-----------------------------------|---|-------------------|
| (a) | Written Test | : | 25 (reduced to 5) |
| (b) | Snap Test | : | 25 (reduced to 5) |
| (c) | Participation in Class Discussion | : | 15 (reduced to 3) |
| (d) | Term Paper | : | 25 (reduced to 5) |
| (e) | Attendance | : | 10 (reduced to 2) |

Total : 100 reduced to 20

2. Weightage of 2 marks for attendance component out of 20 marks for Continuous Assessment shall be available only to those students who attend 75% and more of classroom lectures/seminars/workshops. The break-up of marks for attendance component for theory papers shall be as under :

Attendance Component	Mark/s for Theory Papers
(a) 75 % and above upto 85 %	1
(b) Above 85 %	2

3. It shall not be compulsory to pass in Continuous Internal Assessment. Thus, whatever marks are secured by a student out of 20% marks, will be carried forward and added to his/her score out of 80 %, i.e. the remaining marks allocated to the particular subject and, thus, he/she shall have to secure pass marks both in the University examinations as well as total of Internal Continuous Assessment and University examinations.
4. Continuous Internal Assessment awards from the affiliated Colleges/Departments must be sent to the Controller of Examinations, by name, two weeks before the commencement of the particular examination on the proforma obtainable from the Examination Branch.

SPECIAL NOTES :

- (i) The theory paper will be of 80 marks and 20 marks will be for internal assessment.
- (ii) For the private candidates, who have not been assessed earlier for internal assessment, the marks secured by them in theory paper will proportionately be increased to maximum marks of the paper in lieu of internal assessment.
The paper setter must put note (ii) in the question paper.
- (iii) In the case of Postgraduate Courses in the Faculties of Arts, Science, Languages, Education, Design & Fine Arts, and Business Management & Commerce, falling under the purview of Academic Council, where such a provision of Internal Assessment/Continuous Assessment already exists, the same will continue as before.
- (iv) The marks obtained by a candidate in Continuous Internal Assessment in Postgraduate Classes from the admissions of 2004 will be shown separately in the Detailed-Marks-Card (D.M.C.).

Objective of the Course:: Recent India has witnessed a major thrust in the study of India's political and economic processes. An important component of many such studies has been to refer to the relevant constitutional and institutional aspects. Such studies, sensitive to the constitutional experiences of a 'new democracy', have enriched themselves by undertaking an in-depth analysis of the way the constitutional provisions have been put into practice and also by making an attempt to explore the core ideas that guided the constitution-makers during the deliberations in the Constituent Assembly. The paper aims at making the students aware of the text of the Constitution of India, important debates and the way the institutions have worked over the last more than six and half decades.

1. Making of Political Institutions

- a) Constituent Assembly Debates: Secularism, Rights
- b) Preamble, Fundamental Rights and the Directive Principles of State Policy
- c) Constitutional Amendments related to Right to Property: Nature, Problems and Politics

2. Federal Institutions

- a) Strong Centre Framework: Reading Relevant Constitutional Text
- b) Autonomy and Devolution: Sarkaria Commission Recommendations
- c) Local Self Government: Politics of Decentralization

3. Executive and Legislature

- a) President and Prime Minister: Modes of exercise of powers
- b) Governors and Chief Ministers: Changing Role and Institutional Relationship
- c) Union Parliament: Composition, Powers, Reservations and Parliamentary Committees

4. Judicial Power and Rule of Law

- a) Supreme Court: Jurisdictions
- b) Judicial Independence, Judicial Review
- c) Judicial Activism, Public Interest Litigation
- d) Election Commission of India and Electoral Reforms

Objective of the Course: This course aims to introduce students to politics in India as it has evolved after decolonization. The themes discussed during the course will be those that are crucial to the understanding of the way political processes in the largest democracy of the world unfold in varying form. The paper takes up the issues for discussion related to the way democratic politics in India has evolved and been shaped in an underdeveloped, multi-ethnic setting along the lines of caste, class, and linguistic and religious identities. It also focuses on the way India's democratic state has fared in promoting economic development, both growth and equity.

1. Democratic Politics in Independent India

- a) Legacies of the Nationalist Movement.
- b) Challenges of Democratic Transition and Consolidation
- c) Nature of Indian State: Class, Gender

2. Political Parties and Electoral Politics

- a) Evolution and Shifts in Party System: Dominant Party System, Its Breakdown
- b) Electoral Politics: Emerging Trends Since 1990's

Course-VIII: Theories of International Relations

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE PAPER-SETTERS AND CANDIDATES:

- (i) The theory question paper will be of 80 marks and 20 marks will be for internal assessment.
- (ii) For private candidates, who have not been assessed earlier for internal assessment, the marks secured by them in theory paper will proportionately be increased to maximum marks of the paper in lieu of internal assessment.

The paper setter must put note (ii) in the question paper.

The syllabus has been divided into four units.

There shall be 9 questions in all. The first question is compulsory and shall be short answer type containing 15 short questions spread over the whole syllabus to be answered in about 25 to 30 words each. The candidates are required to attempt any 10 short answer type questions carrying 20 marks i.e. 2 marks for each. Rest of the paper shall contain 4 units. Each unit shall have two questions, and the candidates shall be given internal choice of attempting one question from each Unit – 4 in all. Each question will carry 15 marks.

Objectives of the Course: The key objective of this course is to provide a comprehensive overview of the major theories in IR, covering the entire disciplinary spectrum from mainstream approaches such as realism, liberalism and constructivism to critical approaches such as postcolonialism, postmodernism and feminism. Whereas the course content remains largely theoretical, both historical and contemporary practices are taken as illustrative examples, particularly illuminating non-Western perspectives. This course is expected to act as a catalyst for students to think creatively and critically in search of ‘global’ International Relations that is inclusive of non-Western perspectives and traditions.

The course has four units and each unit is presented with the help of key concepts. Each unit has essential readings that offer a basic introduction to the topic. Students are advised to familiarize themselves with the essential readings before the lecture and follow up with the specified recommended readings. During class discussion, they will be expected to critically evaluate the essential readings and attempt to uncover all possible nuances of an argument.

Unit-I

I. Introducing Practice-Theory Interface:

International practices, disciplinary lineage of IR, role and significance of theory, units and levels of analysis, practices of IR.

II: Mainstream IR Theories:

Realism (national interest, national power, national security, security dilemma, balance of power, structural realism, defensive/offensive realism); Liberalism (interdependence, neoliberal institutionalism, commercial liberalism, democratic peace theory, international law, regimes, world public opinion).

III. Constructivism and the ‘English School’:

Identity, social construction of knowledge and the construction of social reality

IV: Critical IR theories and Non-Western Perspectives:

Marxism, post structuralism, postmodernism, post colonialism, feminism, ecological, 'global' IR

M.A. POLITICAL SCIENCE (SEMESTER SYSTEM) SYLLABUS

The syllabus has been divided into four units.

There shall be 9 questions in all. The first question is compulsory and shall be short answer type containing 15 short questions spread over the whole syllabus to be answered in about 25 to 30 words each. The candidates are required to attempt any 10 short answer type questions carrying 20 marks i.e. 2 marks for each. Rest of the paper shall contain 4 units. Each unit shall have two questions, and the candidates shall be given internal choice of attempting one question from each Unit – 4 in all. Each question will carry 15 marks.

Objectives : This course is based on the premise that geopolitics needs to be re-conceptualized as twenty-first century unfolds. The intention is to rethink and radicalize its components ‘geo’ and ‘politics’ so that the self-evident character and nuance of the sign ‘geopolitics’ can be conceptualized and pluralized. Once conceptualized in a critical way as a problematic of geopolitics or geographical politics, geopolitics becomes a much broader social and cultural phenomena that is normally described and understood by the geopolitical tradition of ‘wise-men’ statecraft.

UNIT-I

Modern Geopolitical Imagination and Visualizing Global Space : Blocks, Worlds and Zones of identity and difference.

Epochs of Geopolitics (Imperial Geopolitics, Cold War Geopolitics, and the Geopolitics of the ‘New World Order’.

UNIT-II

Twenty-First Century Geopolitics (End of History? The Clash of Civilizations?).

National Identity and Geopolitical Visions (USA, Russia, India and Pakistan).

UNIT-III

The Geopolitics of Global Dangers (‘rogue states’, the ‘coming anarchy’, diseases and disasters).

The Geopolitics of Terror (with special reference to 11 September and its aftermath).

UNIT-IV

Critical Geopolitics (anti-geopolitics, social movements and alternative political geographies).

Gender and Geopolitics.

Objectives : Political Geography is concerned with the reciprocal impact of spatial patterns, features and structures, and political ideas, institutions. Above all, it focuses on the twin ideas of territory and territoriality. This course is based on the premise that with the Post-World War era coming to a decisive end, a new political geography—one offering fresh perspectives on the relationship between geography and politics—is in the making. Such a political geography recognizes that spatial patterns of political processes are not confined only to national boundaries. The nation-state is a part of a globalizing world, and the resultant geopolitical map contains nested regions with over-lapping boundaries. It is equally important to examine the geopolitical economy of so-called ‘resource wars’, that is armed conflicts revolving to a significant degree over the pursuit or possession of critical materials. The course will draw upon a number of case studies from different parts of the globe (especially Afro-Asia, Polar Regions and the Indian Ocean region) to enable students develop a better understanding of the politics of space and spaces of politics.

Unit-I

Understanding Key Concepts : Power, Territory/Territoriality, Space and Spatiality.

Globalization and the Regionalization : Integration and Fragmentation.

Unit-II

Territory and the Power of Ethnic Nationalism.

The Geopolitics of ‘Resource Wars’.

Unit-III

Environmental Geopolitics and Sustainability (with special reference to the polar regions).

International Migration, Refugee Flows and Diasporas.

Unit-IV

New States and the Geopolitical Transition (with special reference to Central Asian Republics).

Changing nature and role of international boundaries and border regions.

M.A. POLITICAL SCIENCE (SEMESTER SYSTEM) SYLLABUS

Objectives : This course investigates how India has been represented by groups and individuals, political elites and the dominant institutions and intellectuals of statecraft. It intends to probe how a variety of geopolitical imaginations have come to compete with one another, as different actors seek to implant maps of meaning, relevance and order on to highly complex and dynamic political universe they inhabit, observe, try to understand and sometimes even desire to dominate. How various geopolitical idioms, myths and representational practices have been used to inscribe something called India and endow that entity with a content, history, meaning and trajectory. The intention of this course is exploratory and not normative.

Unit-I

1. Pre-colonial India : An Overview.
2. India in British Colonial Imagination.

Unit-II

3. Partition of British India and its Legacies.
4. Integration of Princely States.

Unit-III

5. The India Diaspora : Dynamics and Dilemmas of Migration.
6. Gender in Indian Geopolitics.

Unit-IV

7. Nationalist Constructions of India's Identity (with special reference to Nehru and Savarkar).
8. Rise of Hindutva and the Search for Alternative Geopolitical Imaginations.
