The power of collaboration

Cover quote: Roxanne Hori, Assistant Dean and Director, Career Management Center
Kellogg School of Management

The Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University is well known for its emphasis on collaboration and teamwork inside and outside the classroom. This same spirit is evident in the school's partnership with companies and organizations that look to Kellogg for their future leaders. Finding the right fit requires a team effort.

As the front line for that team, the Kellogg Career Management Center staff work hard to build and maintain strong relationships with the companies and organizations that recruit our students. The more we understand their missions, goals and staffing needs, the better we can represent their interests to our students and, similarly, the better we can offer advice and guidance to our students.

This has proven particularly true in the current economic environment, where the breadth of opportunities and future prospects aren't always evident in annual reports and financial statements. We believe in helping our students gain a complete picture before making career-defining decisions.

Expanding the relationship

The Kellogg School offers a wide variety of opportunities for employers to connect with our students, including on-campus presentations and interviews, job postings, outbound treks by students, site visits to companies by our staff and our highly successful internship program.

Companies that sustain relationships with the Kellogg School also benefit from other mutually rewarding opportunities and programs. Firms can participate in the Global Initiatives in Management program, experiential learning opportunities, classes, conferences, and more. And, of course, many companies have established valuable connections with our world-class faculty who, through their research, innovations and thought leadership, are helping to define the science and practice of management in the 21st century.

More than the numbers

The Kellogg School of Management 2009 Employment Report provides valuable information for companies interested in recruiting at Kellogg; prospective students who factor employment results when selecting a business school; current students who are evaluating job prospects and possibilities, and alumni who take a great interest and pride in what's happening at Kellogg.

As informative as the numbers may be, the Career Management Center can offer additional insight into what they mean for you. Regardless of your current relationship with Kellogg or the nature of your interest in our career services, we invite you to collaborate with us in facing your challenges and fulfilling your needs.

Breadth. Depth. Diversity. Talent.

Our 2009 employment report underscores the qualities that make Kellogg a universally attractive source for management talent. The breadth of industries that successfully recruit at Kellogg is testament to the strength of our academic programs across all business and management disciplines. Our class size adds depth to that breadth; companies with even the most exacting requirements can nearly always identify a Kellogg graduate who can fulfill their specific needs. And the diversity of our students—in terms of culture, origin, professional experience, and educational background—enriches the pool of talent from which companies can draw.

“The CMC delivers a beginning-to-end solution. Early in my first year, the CMC career panels and online resources helped me gain insights into my career and industry aspirations. I received one-on-one guidance to navigate my way through the on-campus recruitment process, which gave me access to several Fortune 500 companies in the high-tech industry. Ultimately I received and accepted a product management internship at Microsoft. Imagine the depth of support you can get when it’s time to re-enter the business world full-time.”
