III. READING COMPREHENSION (10 marks)

READ THE FOLLOWING PASSAGE AND ANSWER THE QUESTIONS THAT FOLLOW!

Most people can remember a phone number for up to thirty seconds. When this short amount of time elapses, however, the numbers are erased from the memory. How did the information get there in the first place? Information that makes its way to the short term memory (STM) does so via the sensory storage area. The brain has a filter which only allows stimuli that is of immediate interest to pass on to the STM, also known as the working memory.

There is much debate about the capacity and duration of the short term memory. The most accepted theory comes from George A. Miller, a cognitive psychologist who suggested that humans can remember approximately seven chunks of information. A chunk is defined as a meaningful unit of information, such as a word or name rather than just a letter or number. Modern theorists suggest that one can increase the capacity of the short term memory by chunking, or classifying similar information together. By organizing information, one can optimize the STM, and improve the chances of a memory being passed on to long term storage.

When making a conscious effort to memorize something, such as information for an exam, many people engage in "rote rehearsal". By repeating something over and over again, one is able to keep a memory alive. Unfortunately, this type of memory maintenance only succeeds if there are no interruptions. As soon as a person stops rehearsing the information, it has the tendency to disappear. When a pen and paper are not handy, people often attempt to remember a phone number by repeating it aloud. If the doorbell rings or the dog barks to come in before a person has the opportunity to make a phone call, he will likely forget the number instantly.*¹ Therefore, rote rehearsal is not an efficient way to pass information from the short term to long term memory.*² A better way is to practice "elaborate rehearsal".*³ This involves assigning semantic meaning to a piece of information so that it can be filed along with other pre-existing long term memories.*⁴

Encoding information semantically also makes it more retrievable. Retrieving information can be done by recognition or recall. Humans can easily recall memories that are stored in the long term memory and used often; however, if a memory seems to be forgotten, it may eventually be retrieved by prompting. The more cues a person is given (such as pictures), the more likely a memory can be retrieved. This is why multiple choice tests are often used for subjects that require a lot of memorization.

Glossary:

semantic: relating to the meaning of something

Reading Comprehension questions:

1. According to the passage, how do memories get transferred to the STM?
 - A) They revert from the long term memory.
 - B) They are filtered from the sensory storage area.
 - C) They get chunked when they enter the brain.
 - D) They enter via the nervous system.
2. The word elapses in paragraph 1 is closest in meaning to:
 - A) passes
 - B) adds up
 - C) appears
 - D) continues
3. All of the following are mentioned as places in which memories are stored EXCEPT the:
 - A) STM
 - B) long term memory
 - C) sensory storage area
 - D) maintenance area

4. Look at the four stars that indicate where the following sentence can be added to the passage. Where would the sentence fit best?:

For example, a reader engages in elaborate rehearsal when he brings prior knowledge of a subject to a text.

- i) *1
- ii) *2
- iii) *3
- iv) *4

5. The author believes that rote rotation is:

SECTION B: DESCRIPTIVE TYPE (50 Marks)

V. ESSAY QUESTION (20 marks) – (300 words)

1. Write a short essay about any book/ film/ TV serial that you have read or seen. How did it change your understanding of something that you earlier accepted unquestioningly? Support your answer with clearly explained references to the text but take care not to write only a plot summary as response. Instead, focus on how the work transformed your ideas.

VI. UNIVERSITY & YOU (15 marks) – (200 words)

Why do you want to do a BA in a foreign language rather than in history, political science, sociology, philosophy etc.?

VII. OPINION (10 marks) – (150 words)

“There is nothing remotely ‘sporting’ about sports that involve animal participants.”

Look at the images above, read the quotation given above and write about what you think of sports that involve animals. Argue your position clearly, in a coherent and logical manner.

VIII. LANGUAGE (5 marks)

In the following passage mark any two groups or classes of words that fulfil the same function and explain what the function is! [For example July, candle, wind, August, sheets etc. are all words that name things and tell us what we are talking about!]

July had been blown out like a candle by a biting wind that ushered in a leaden August sky. A sharp, stinging drizzle fell, billowing into opaque grey sheets when the wind caught it. Along the Bournemouth sea-front the beach-huts turned blank wooden faces towards a greeny-grey, froth-chained sea that leapt eagerly at the cement bulwark of the shore. The gulls had been tumbled inland over the town, and they now drifted above the house-tops on taut wings, whining peevishly. It was the sort of weather calculated to try anyone's endurance.

Considered as a group my family was not a very prepossessing sight that afternoon, for the weather had brought with it the usual selection of ills to which we were prone. For me, lying on the floor, labelling my collection of shells, it had brought catarrh, pouring it into my skull like cement, so that I was forced to breath stertorously through open mouth. For my brother Leslie, hunched dark and glowering by the fire, it had inflamed the convolutions of his ears so that they bled delicately but persistently. To my sister Margo it had delivered a fresh dappling of acne spots to a face that was already blotched like a red veil. For my mother there was a rich, bubbling cold, and a twinge of rheumatism to season it. Only my eldest brother, Larry, was untouched, but it was sufficient that he was irritated by our failings.

COMPREHENSION: (10 marks)

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow by choosing the correct answer.

The second dimension is the intellectual. We live in a highly competitive age of science and technology, and can no longer afford the luxury of mediocrity if we are to forge ahead. This rapidly changing nuclear age requires our youth to be intellectually far more alert and competent than their predecessors., and therefore every young man and woman today, studying in schools, colleges and universities must aim at academic ability of the highest order. In a developing nation like ours, where large numbers are still unable to acquire primary education, those undergoing higher education constitute a privileged elite. They must therefore, repay their debt to the society by not wasting a single moment of academic life in futile or disruptive pursuits, but strain every nerve to become able and efficient in their respective fields of study, so that they can serve India with greater efficiency. In this context

1. Intellectuals amongst youth are essential:-

A. For the development of the nation

- B. because we need intellectuals
- C. Intellectualism is in vogue
- D. nations with intellectuals are respected

2. 'The luxury of mediocrity' means:-

- A. intellectualism
- B. Advanced knowledge of science and technology
- C. Secondary or insufficient knowledge
- D. Sufficient knowledge

3. Not many go in for higher education because,

- A. it is the privilege of the rich class
- B. only rich people are intellectuals
- C. poor people are debarred from higher education
- D. not all Indians can afford it

(25 marks)

Read the following paragraph carefully and answer the questions that follow. Also give a suitable title to the paragraph:

“A major obstacle in the way of healthy education is the understanding of education itself. In Orientalist societies in particular, education has been intrinsically linked with jobs, which are categorized as white collar, blue collar and yellow collar. Whether education is a tool for provision of jobs or emancipation of minds and empowering the individual to take reasoned and well studied decisions for his own good and the society, gets totally blurred in the dominant perception and consciousness of the society. People who believe education is a light that removes darkness of thought and mind is mocked at. There is a mad rush for ‘quality education’ everywhere which only the rich can afford.”
